METAL TRADE DULL DESPITE SHORTAGE OF STOCKS HERE

Prices In London And New York Show Declines

CARGOES ARRIVE

Late Shipments Will Relieve Stringent Situation

BY DAVID ARAKIE

New business in metals in Shanghai is lighter than it has been for sometime. The lifeless tone in evidence in this market for the past two months has been more marked, and in spite of the lack of supplies in the interior of many lines of iron and steel goods the amount of business arranged is altogether disproportionate. London and New York prices show a further all-round decline, while in Shanghai very little of interest is transpiring. In any case, Chinese dealers are not prepared to operate even on concessions on present prices for near or more distant delivery.

The most noticeable feature of this mart during the past fortnight has been the fairly large arrivals of goods. Almost every incoming mail boat has been bringing from the States and from England fair quantities of metals. They are against orders filed here by Chinese with manufacturers abroad in the early part of the year, and which on account of the Ruhr trouble could not be executed promptly. These deferred shipments will relieve the present stringent situation as far as stocks are concerned. There has been considerable arrivals of wire nails.

The lack of demand for most of these products is driving importers here to despair. These dealers are still showing a humorous feeling and appear to be obsessed with the belief that American and English prices must go down further. They are thus sitting on the fence and reluctant to commit themselves to any important transaction. As long as this fear exists business will be impossible of achievement.

REPLACING COST

Another factor militating against activity of any sort is the fact that replacing cost is higher than the prices existing in Shanghai for many of the iron and steel lines. Demand in turn is busting available supplies, which are comparatively cheap. Trade conditions are disappointing and a revival of activity is not expected till after the summer.

When conditions show some amelioration there is no doubt that dealers will respond to a greater extent than they are doing now. Of course, as already pointed out, purchases are made very sparingly.

A small business is being done in Shanghai in Hongkong tin and it is expected that the demand will grow larger very shortly. Local supplies of this grade do not exceed more than 200 to 250 slabs. Trade in Straits tin is difficult by reason of the exchange being against the importer. Stocks of this tin are estimated at about 20 tons at the present moment. Hongkong tin is quoted at Tls. 73 and Straits Settlements tin at Tls. 78 basis. It is expected that the Yunnan district will soon be in to replenish their tin supplies. This consuming center has been absent from the local market for sometime.

The activities of the various copper mints in China have been closed book for the past fortnight. Advices from Hankow are silent on the purchases of these institutions, but it is believed that recent business could not have been on an extensive scale.

The London Metals Exchange reports considerable activity this week in standard copper, and tone is generally believed to be connected with American interests. Sellers, it is stated, are quite willing to meet the demand, but the immediate outlook is, therefore, uncertain. An easier market for copper exists in New York, and the advancing tendency has been checked.

ANTIMONY CARGO

A small cargo of antimony arrives regularly from Changsha.

There is a fair demand for tin from Europe and also from the United States. Lead is lifeless this being the off-season. Prices in America and England

Indian Victim Relates Story Of Brutal Attack; Woman Goes To Trial

Mrs. Judith Rowarth, 63 Years Old, Before Supreme Court Judge And Jury On Attempted Murder Charge; Case Resumes Today

A dramatic story of how he was set upon and hacked almost to death in a dark spot near Thorburn Road on the night of May 4 was told by Barkar Singh, Indian moneylender, before Judge Sir Skinner Turner and a jury in the British Supreme Court yesterday, when Mrs. Judith Rowarth, 63-year-old woman went on trial on the charge of attempting to murder.

At the opening hearing of the case Sir William Rees Davies, K.C., Chief Justice of Hongkong, was also on the Bench. Mr. H. P. Wilkinson, Crown Advocate, appeared to prosecute, while Mr. Lipson Ward and Mr. Mancel Reece defended. The jury is composed of Messrs. E. T. Byrne, J. O. Beddington, C. T. Davis, J. Elliott and C. E. Hall.

The prisoner pleaded "not guilty."

CROWN OPENS CASE

The Crown Advocate in opening his case for the Crown said the charge which was brought against the accused was divided into two parts. The first part stated that she and persons unknown had on Thorburn Road cut, stabbed and wounded Barkar Singh with intent to murder, while the second part stated that she was present in the attempt to aid and abet in this stabbing. Attempt to murder, was, under the statute, murder. The amended charge was that she was present with other people as part of a concerted plan to stab, cut and wound this man and further if the jury found that the accused did concert with these men she would be guilty then of both charges. There were two alternatives on which the jury would have to decide.

The Crown Advocate went on to state that Barkar Singh was carrying on business as a money lender, and had lent a considerable sum of money to Mrs. Davis, a daughter of the accused, who also guaranteed other promissory notes on which the Indian money lender had advanced money to other people. Barkar Singh was getting angry about some promissory notes given by Mrs. Davis, and had threatened legal proceedings. As a matter of fact there were a number of suits pending in regard to the money lent by Barkar Singh and on which Mrs. Davis was the guarantor. It was not necessary for the Crown, the prosecutor maintained, to prove motive.

AS TO MOTIVE

The jury might question whether a middle-aged lady of British-Portuguese race and a British subject who was charged with being concerned with having assaulted a man nearly to death should be mixed up in such a matter. It was part of the case for the Crown that Mrs. Rowarth's family was mixed with Barkar Singh in money lending and that things were not going well, that Mrs. Davis owed a considerable sum of money to Barkar Singh, and the case for the prosecution was that they came to some plan whereby they would have Barkar Singh put away or that they would teach him a lesson, about the money and all the promissory notes for which Mrs. Davis was guarantor.

It would have been practically impossible for Mrs. Davis to honor the guarantee given by her. The incident happened between 7.30 and 8 p.m. on May 4 last, when the money lender in question was in his house and the accused and Mrs. Davis' amah called on him and after a conversation which lasted a few minutes induced him to go with them to somewhere near Thorburn Road on the pretext that a certain Chinese woman to whom Barkar Singh had lent money had removed from her old place and was at this particular spot where they were desirous of taking him, telling him that he would get the money if he went.

When he got to the place he was murderously assaulted. Was it possible that Barkar Singh was innocently taken to have a debt paid and that there were some people in secret ambush not connected with the accused who desired to get him? It was for the jury to make their own deduction.

RAISES QUESTION

Mr. Lipson Ward said that Wednesday he was served with a notice by the Crown Advocate for further evidence. It was a notice that of evidence obviously of the relations between the prosecuter and Mrs. M. Davis. After what the Crown Advocate had said in his opening remarks, it was obvious that he was now suggesting on behalf of the Crown that there was a concerted plan between the accused and members of her family, of which Mrs. Davis was one. Counsel said that he wished to give a warning to the prosecution that if it sought to establish that there was some persons known to the prosecution, namely Mrs. Davis or other members of the accused family then that evidence was inadmissable on the present charge. It would have meant for the prosecution in-

"JULY 4TH" LAWN PARTY TO BE HELD AT RACE COURSE

Daylight Fireworks, Historical Tableaux, Juggling And Supper On Program

A meeting of the Lawn Party Committee of the Fourth of July celebration was held under the chairmanship of Mr. Carl Crow at the Union Club yesterday afternoon at which final arrangements for the Lawn party to be held on the afternoon of 'The Glorious Fourth' were made.

The lawn party, as last year, will be held on the Race Course grounds immediately after the baseball game between Shanghai and the gobs' nine from the U. S. S. Huron. In addition to the big exhibition of daylight fireworks, which were ordered from Japan some time ago, features of the lawn party will be the historical tableaux presented under the direction of Mrs. Gardner Crane, moving pictures, Chinese jugglers and the picnic basket supper.

Last year an extremely large crowd attended the lawn party and although they were warned in advance they went with the idea that they would not stay long and consequently did not take their picnic baskets with them. Once there they decided to stay and had to depend on the generosity of far-seeing friends, go hungry, and return to town to eat. All who expect to attend the lawn party are advised by the committee to take their baskets this year and plan to stay until the party is over.

EPITHETS FLY DURING DEBATE IN COMMONS; 4 SUSPENDED

Labor Members Denounce Colleague As "Murderer"

PASTOR IS OUSTED

Another Calls Deputy Speaker 'White Livered Coward'

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 27.—Four Labor Members were suspended today by the House of Commons on the debate on the Scottish estimates.

Mr. James Maxton, Labor Member for Bridgeton, Glasgow, and Mr. J. Wheatley, Labor Member for Settleston, Glasgow, described Sir Frederick Banbury, Conservative Member for the City of London, as a "murderer" in connection with the reduction of the provision for child welfare. They refused to withdraw the expression or to depart even at the request of the Sergeant-at-Arms with a show of force, but they left when a motion for their suspension was carried.

After that the Rev. Campbell Stephen, Labor Member for Camlachie, Glasgow, repeated the allegation that Sir Frederick Banbury was a "murderer," when another motion for suspension secured the Rev. Stephen's departure.

The uproar recommenced when Sir George Hamilton, Conservative Member for Cheshire, made a reference to a "Jew" while Mr. Emanuel Shinwell, Labor Member for Linlithgow, was speaking. The latter objected to offensive reference to the race to which he was proud to belong.

Mr. G. Buchanan, Labor Member for Gorbals, Glasgow, shouted: "You white-livered coward," and accused the Deputy Speaker of injustice in naming Labor Members and not naming the offending Ministerialist. The Speaker declared that he had not heard Sir George Hamilton's remark. Mr. Buchanan refused to sit down and was finally suspended.

Sir George Hamilton subsequently apologised and withdrew the expression.

Bury Your Hachet, Says Chamber To Lu And Chi

Chekiang And Kiangsu Potentates Asked To Quit Squabbling And Preserve Peace Here

To ask General Lu Yung-hsiang, Military Director of Rehabilitation of Chekiang and Chi Shih-yuan, Kiangsu Tuchun, to bury their hachets and come to Shanghai to hold a parley for the protection of lives and property in the Kiang-Che District is the latest attempt of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to extract the two provinces out of the general political strife.

In all China's internal struggles, Kiangsu and Chekiang have invariably taken opposite sides and although no actual warfare had been resorted to during any of the military operations, which like gentlemen were always mindful and the people in the two provinces were more or less thrown into a state of panic.

The local chamber, realising the pending squabble between the Chihli Party, in which Tuchun Chi had always figured as a leading adherent, and the new coalition formed by General Lu, Marshal Tuan Chi-kwei, Dr. Sun Yat-sen and Chang Tso-lin, desires to effect a compromise between Lu and Chi in order to avoid any possible clash along the two railways.

The text of the message follows:

"Kiangsu and Chekiang adjoin each other in territory and their relation is similar to that of the teeth and the lip. The wealth of the two provinces are second to none, so throughout every political upheaval, the residents were thrown into a panic because they fear that the atrocities of war would be awaiting them.

"This chamber, realising the past events in this region, feels that the military authorities of the two provinces should at once follow the precedent laid down during the Boxer Rebellion by concluding a joint defence arrangement whereby the local peace and order can be effectively preserved. If such an arrangement can be made and publicly announced, the restlessness of the people may be eliminated and the general political situation may not be disturbed on account of the disputes arising out of a section of the navies."

TO FINANCE SOLONS

Peking, June 27.—At a meeting held in General Tuan Chi-jui's residence today, the delegates of General Chang Tso-lin, the Mukden potentate, and General Lu Yung-hsiang, Tupan of the Rehabilitation of Chekiang, reached an agreement whereby General Chang and General Lu will be jointly responsible for the expenses in connection with the proposed reconvention of Parliament in the South.

It was further agreed that pending the election of a new President, President Li Yuan-hung is to resume office in the South on condition that he will resign at the end of three months.

It is reliably reported that the legislators at Tientsin will leave for Shanghai on July 1.

BERLIN'S BAN IN EXCHANGE DEALS CAUSES RUMPUS

French, Unable To Buy Marks, Continue To Seize Them

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 27.—The German Government's prohibition of dealings in foreign exchange, except at the Berlin official rate, with a view to discouraging speculation in the mark, has utterly disorganised the exchange markets. The provincial bourses are making strong protests, notably Cologne which is the center of extensive exchange business owing to the presence of British and Belgian banks. A crisis has arisen at Duesseldorf where it is virtually impossible to change money and the bankers are refusing to sell marks.

It is expected that General Degoutte will issue a degree closing banks who refuse to sell.

The French are unable to buy marks and are seizing them. For example, at Mayence they seized 8,000,000,000 marks destined for railwaymen's wages, and at Muelheim soldiers took possession of a similar sum from the branch of the Reichsbank.

The Germans are still endeavoring to purchase foreign exchange and experts fear that the mark will fall still further.

Sun Asks Powers To Cancel Recognition Of Peking Government

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, June 27.—Yesterday in the office of the Generalissimo an important meeting was held, at which questions regarding military and financial affairs were discussed. As to the question of the issuance of a proclamation, various views were expressed by those who were present at the meeting, but it was finally decided to publish the proclamation after instructing Mr. Wu Chao-shu to modify its wording. It is learned that the gist of Dr. Sun's proclamation is as follows:

"Since the establishment of the Republic of China, twelve years have elapsed and now the militarists have demolished the national constitution and overthrown the President and the Cabinet, thereby rendering political circles restless. In consequence, the people at large have fallen into great misery. Though I advocate bringing about the unification of the county by pacific means, the militarists put confidence in the unification by military power. They have unnecessarily despatched troops to Szechuen, Fukien and Kwangtung, and are perpetrating atrocity.

"If the Powers should really desire peace, it is necessary for them to withdraw their recognition of the Peking Government. I do not suggest that the Powers should recognise the Southern Government. I merely hope that they will reserve their right of recognising the Chinese Government for the present, pending the completion of the establishment of a genuine and legal government in this country."

SAILORS TELL GRAPHIC TALE OF LONG FIGHT TO SAVE LIVES

One Boat-load Of Ill-fated Trevessa's Crew Safe

23 DAYS AT SEA

Water Supply So Short Each Had Only Pittance

(Reuter's Service)

Rodriguez Island, June 28.—A story of the sea like a chapter of a romance is told by Captain Cecil Foster of the ill-fated Trevessa. He says that at midnight on June 3 in a south-south-westerly gale the ship hove to, making water rapidly in spite of the pumps and taking mountainous seas on board. The ship was sinking fast headwise and S.O.S. signals were sent out giving the position of the ship. Replies were received from the steamer, Runic, and from two unknown vessels, but they were unable to await further messages and the ship was abandoned with perfect discipline.

The Trevessa foundered at 2.45 in the morning. The two boats kept together throughout the night and the following day awaiting assistance and they set sail at 5 o'clock. An hour later the mast was carried away by the heavy sea. It was decided on June 5 to make for the Mauritius and they steered true in a strong increasing wind and high seas until the evening of June 8 when they were again compelled to lay to.

The weather was dirty and the night was very dark. They were unable to keep sight of the other boat. The rain was very heavy. The compasses were useless and they were obliged to steer by the stars and sun. They completely lost sight of the other boat on June 9 and decided to make a course for Rodriguez Island, the nearest land, to send help.

The boat made good progress until June 15 when heavy weather was encountered, the boat shipping much water. A lot of time was lost owing to accidents to the gear. She was driven out of her course on June 24 but worked back and sighted Rodriguez Island in the afternoon of June 26 and landed in the evening.

The discipline was splendid throughout. The crew suffered considerably owing to shortage of water, one-third of a cigarette tin of which was issued daily. Rations consisted of a lid of a cigarette tin full of condensed milk twice a day and one biscuit.

Two native fishermen died from exposure to the sea. The remainder of the crew were weak but they rapidly recovered with attention.

Hopes are entertained for the safety of the second boat which was slower.

(Reuter's Service)

Cardiff, June 27.—The managers of the Trevessa have received a cable stating that the Captain, the Chief Engineer and 16 members of the crew of the Trevessa have landed on Rodriguez Island.

The Captain believes that the other boat with the rest of the crew will turn up safely.

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 27.—The Commander-in-Chief of the East Indies has cabled to the Admiralty that the members of the crew of the Trevessa on Rodriguez Island consist of five officers and 10 members of the crew, who had been 23 days at sea. Two men died at sea.

The other boat with the remaining officers and crew was last seen on June 9 and was instructed to make for Rodriguez Island.

H. M. S. Colombo has been ordered to Rodriguez Island to obtain the latest information and then to search for the second boat.

Cannot Get Vessel To Return Home

Miss Emily McCoy

FIFTEEN years ago Miss Emily McCoy went to America to learn trained nursing, so as to care for her native people on Pitcairn Island, a lonely little land in the South Seas, where there is no physician. Her father is Chief of the island. She has heard from him once in six years. For the last few years she has been making every endeavor to return home, but vessels touch at the island years apart, and the British Government, which sends warships there once a year, will not permit her to go home on board a war vessel.

Carlton Theater

Almost eight years ago, when "The Birth of a Nation" had just been released, and before its initial run in New York came to an end, Griffith formed a company and took "The Birth of a Nation" on the road, much in the same way that New York successes are put on tour. The operator with the original Griffith company was Mr. Cecil Woods, who remained with the film during its entire run of four years.

Mr. Cecil Woods is now in Shanghai, and is in charge of the projection of "The Birth of a Nation." The tempo of the film is exactly as it was in the original running, and the musical score was especially written for the film. There is no doubt but that, under Mr. Woods' direct eye, the film is showing to its best advantage.

Besides special music, there is another factor in the staging of "The Birth of a Nation," a factor new to Shanghai. The "effects," which included bugle calls, the rapid fire of rifle, and the roar of cannon, all lent to the heightening of the effect.

"The Birth of a Nation" tells the story of the chaos that raged in ten of the Southern States, when, after the Civil War and the assassination of President Lincoln, the "carpet baggers" swarmed to the South and started the move to Africanise some ten of the States.

It tells of the struggle between the White South and the Black South, of the quartering of guerilla regiments in the principal towns, the capture of the States Houses by the "Freedmen," the rise of "Lynch" to the Lieutenant-Governorship, of the rigors and injustices of the Black rule.

It tells of the gradual revolt of the Whites, of the formation of the Ku Klux Klan, of the fights and sudden deaths that became rife, of the gathering of the Klans, and the ride and final victory of the Klans, and the restoration of peace.

It is a great story, masterfully produced. The effects are tremendous, and where the story treats of personalities the characterisations are perfect.

Bankoff Scores

Coming into Shanghai at a time when the city has seen a great deal of Russian dancing, Mr. Ivan Bankoff, dancer extraordinary, proved to an appreciative audience at the Apollo Theater, last night, that Shanghai by no means knows all that there is to know about Russian dancing, nor about various other kinds of dancing.

Bankoff and his enchanting partner, Miss Beth Cannon, captivated the audience which greeted their opening program here, and it is a safe wager that the Apollo from now on until the end of the engagement will be one of the popular places in town. Bankoff is a finished dancer, as one would expect from his career at the Moscow Art Theater and his experience in Europe and America, and Miss Cannon is everything that could be desired as a partner. The main numbers in last night program were the Polish Wedding Dance, the Mazurka number, the Henry VIII Potpourri and "The Dancing Master." At the conclusion Bankoff and his partner were enthusiastically applauded.

It was announced last night that in addition to the performances at the Apollo, Bankoff will next week at the St. George's Cafe begin a series of "Midnight Revues," in which he and Miss Cannon and an imposing array of local talent will be featured.

The statement of claim, filed by Mr. Krisel on behalf of the plaintiffs, alleges infringement of copyright in connection with the publication of "Webster's Collegiate Dictionary." It is alleged that the defendants are bringing out, or are about to bring out, an edition of the dictionary here, with a Chinese translation. In connection with the case a temporary restraining order was granted by the Mixed Court on June 13, prohibiting the defendants from destroying or disposing of any plates, moulds, etc., and from the sale of any of the dictionaries under question until the settlement of the present case.

Mr. Alexander Ting, for the defendants, made application on Wednesday for the dissolution of the injunction and the motion was denied. The defendants' reply has not yet been filed.

Annie Christie

A fairly good house greeted the Far East Players at the Lyceum last night—the best turnout, in fact, since the company returned here from the South. The attraction was "Annie Christie," the play that caused such a fuss here when the Frawley Company appeared at the Olympic Theater last winter.

It is an intense play that pictures certain phases of waterfront life in Eastern America, and whatever the feelings it aroused at the last performance here, last night's entertainment was highly appreciated. Miss Blood, in the title role, was particularly convincing. Bernard Nedell, as Annie's "cave man" lover, was very good, and Florence Roberts repeated the triumph she scored in the part of "Marthy Owen" when the company was here last winter. Mr. Frawley, as the skipper of the barge, was everything that could have been asked in the part.

It is indeed fortunate for Shanghai that Mr. Frawley continues to include this part of the world in his itinerary, and a pity that his return engagement, for a combination of reasons beyond anybody's control, is not more materially appreciated.

"Annie Christie" is to be repeated Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock and all who have not seen it should not miss this last opportunity to do so.

Tonight the company will present "Lawful Larceny," a new play.

SPIRITUALISM IS SUBJECT OF TALK TO ROTARY CLUB

That spiritualism is still a subject wrapped in mystery for the layman and the onus of proof must rest with the spiritualists who claim that there is such a thing as the supernatural was the conclusion drawn by Dr. Herbert Chatley, in an interesting address before the Rotary Club yesterday at the Union Club.

"We are all more or less 'suckers'," said the speaker. "We may be absolutely deceived on this subject. Despite the fact that many scientists are devoting a great deal of their time and energy to further the study, the most convincing negative proof is that they have failed to offer any physical phenomenon."

Dr. Chatley gave a historical review of the subject and told of the experiences of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, whose researches in the subject have attracted world-wide attention; and of the encouragement given by the "Scientific American," which had offered two prizes of G.$2,500 each for a fully authenticated spirit picture and for other physical phenomena. The publication had not yet received any offer in the competition, he said. He also spoke at length on ectoplasm and how photography could be modified either deliberately or accidently.

The club yesterday welcomed back to its fold one of the charter members, Mr. L. M. Bocker, late of the Peking University, who is sailing for the States on Monday and also bade goodbye to Mr. Horace P. Sailor, who is leaving at the same time. It was announced that the illustrated lecture by Mr. J. B. Powell and Mr. Lee Solomon on their captivity by the Lincheng bandits would be postponed on account of the fact that the slides of the pictures taken at Paotzuku would not be ready.

Mr. Bocker told of the formation of a Rotary Club in Peking and said that two Shanghai Rotarians, Mr. Julian Arnold and Mr. C. T. Wang, were the two chief sponsors of the movement. Others interested in the organisation were Dr. W. W. Yen and Mr. H. S. Baxton.

The meeting next Thursday will be for members only, it was announced.

Manila To Help Hemp Farmers

Manila, June 26.—The department of agriculture is going to help the hemp growers of the southern islands. It will determine which varieties of abaca plants are best suited for given localities, and make them easily available to the growers. Some plants give 90 percent efficiency; others only ten..

Peking Lacks 100 M. P's For Quorum

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 28.—In view of the conflicting reports issued for propagandist purposes, careful inquires made elicit the fact that there are 573 Members of Parliament in Peking and 183 in Tientsin. The number in Peking is thus nearly 100 short of that required for a quorum for the election of the President.

Mr. Pan Fu, ex-Minister of Finance, arrived this morning. His arrival is expected to have an important bearing on Mr. Chang Ying-hua's plans.

A mandate is expected appointing Mr. Shen Pu-chow Acting Minister of Education.

Labor Member Opposes Air Plans

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 27.—In the House of Commons today, Mr. Morel, Labor Member for Dundee, urged the Government before committing the country to increased aerial expenditure to consider the summoning of a conference of Powers with a view to limitation of aerial warcraft construction.

Mr. Bridgeman, the Home Secretary, replied that the Prime Minister thought that the Government should await the result of the League of Nations Reduction of Armaments Commission before taking any other steps.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, June 27.—It is officially stated that the United States does not contemplate a great increase in its air force, preferring to continue pioneer work in new types of aircraft to attempting, under the present conditions, to maintain equality with other nations.

Paris, June 27.—The French press emphasises the importance of the increase in the Air Force announced by Mr. Stanley Baldwin in the British House of Commons, which brings the total of British squadrons to 52. The Temps expresses the hope that competition in aerial armaments will be avoided.

Singapore Base To Cost £10,500,000

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 28.—In the House of Commons today replying to Commander Kenworthy, Mr. L. C. M. S. Amery, the First Lord of the Admiralty, said that the cost of the projected graving-dock at Singapore was estimated at £1,000,000. The cost of the floating-dock was the same and the size about the same.

It was proposed to construct a graving-dock capable of taking simultaneously two ships of the maximum size allowable under the Washington Agreement. The total cost on the Navy votes in the next ten years of the dockyard and naval base at Singapore with accessories was at present roughly estimated at £10,500,000. If any additional fortifications were required they would come on the Army votes, but he did not contemplate any such expenditure.

Cantonese Send Forces Up River

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Canton, June 27.—The Cantonese are sending reinforcements to the West and North River fronts, while General Hsu Chung-chi's Cantonese Army is concentrating on the East River to tighten the siege of Waichow.

The Cantonese are still agitating for peace, seeing that the Constitutionalists are desperately striving to regain full control of Kwangtung, even going so far as to sell all available public lands and buildings to defray the expenses of the war.

The Cantonese are hoping that Dr. Sun Yat-sen will be able soon to settle the local issues so that he may be able to attend to national affairs, for they fear that the foreign Governments may take advantage of the present chaos to exact greater demands than are reasonable in connection with the Lincheng, Changsha and other incidents in which foreigners have been involved.

The Canton Constitutionalists have decided to open a Central Bank, but it is not likely that they will issue notes. Anxiety is expressed in many quarters because the previous Government Bank's notes are extremely untrustworthy and have greatly depreciated.

Japan Gets Fishing Rights From Soviet

Marconi Sees New Era For Wireless

(Reuter's service)

London, June 27.—Signor Marconi, speaking at Brentwood today, said that, as a result of his experiments in West Africa with radically new devices between England and the tropics, long-distance signalling would become more rapid, more efficient and more economical.

QUEZON PARTY IS ATTACKED BY MOB IN PHILIPPINES

Big Crowd In Supposed Stronghold Goes On Rampage

(China Press Service)

Manila, P.I., June 27.—Manuel L. Quezon, President of the Senate, and other members of the Nationalista coalition parties, including Sergio Osmena and Professor J. G. Bier, of the University of the Philippines who are making a tour of the islands mending political fences destroyed during the last election, met with the first united opposition at Calbayog, Samar, yesterday, when large crowds stormed the speakers stands, ripped them apart and cried "Down with Quezon, Osmena and Roxas and coalition politicos".

Half an hour later members of the local constabulary succeeded in forcing the crowds back and giving Mr. Quezon and his confreres an opportunity to answer the cries and threats. Although Mr. Quezon appeared considerably perturbed as a result of rough handling by the crowd, he rose to the occasion stating that such action was the result of the teachings of mistaken leaders who do everything in their power to belittle as much as possible the recognised provincial authority.

The crowd, however, was in no mood for pretty speeches either of apology or explanation and once again stormed the stands cutting the joists and supports from beneath them and hurling the debris at their political enemies. Fortunately none of the speakers was hit but all beat a hasty retreat suffering nothing more than a few bruises and considerable injured dignity.

The outburst came as a complete surprise to all members of Mr. Quezon's party, since the province of Samar has long been conceded one of the political strongholds of the Quezon supporters. The outburst came principally from members of the labor and farming groups who during the last election scored such a remarkable victory over the "Old Guard" during the time that President Quezon and Mr. Osmena were absent in the United States with the last Filipino Independence mission.

The outburst in Calbayog is an indication that Mr. Quezon is fast losing the whip hand over his constituents, and it is believed that in the near future the government of the Philippine Islands will be far more representative than it ever has been since the passage of the Jones Bill.

Metals Trade Is Dull At Present

are weaker. Merchants in Japan are desirous of disposing of their stocks of antimony, Chinese antimony being quoted in Tokio at yen 15 or thereabout. Japanese antimony stands now at some two points below the rate commanded for the Chinese. There are large stocks both in Tokio and Osaka of lead, and these are being increased by the arrivals of shipments purchased by Japanese speculators. The demand for lead for manufacture of paints has almost ceased in Japan owing to the tightness of money there and the approach of the end of the half-year.

Latest London quotations for some of the principal lines of iron and steel goods are: Standard copper £65.17.6 for spot and £66.7.6 for future, electrolytic copper £72.10 for spot, tin £188.15, lead £25.2.6 spot and £24.7.6 future, spelter £28.10 spot and £28.15 future. Electrolytic copper is quoted at 15 cents on the New York metals Exchange.

Good Boxing Bill Ready For Tomorrow At Stadium; "Grudge" Fights On Card

The boxing that is to be offered at the Stadium in Great Western Road tomorrow night is declared by the management to be one of the best balanced programs yet offered, with plenty of fight all the way through. The preliminary matches will bring several "grudge" fighters together—boys who have been boasting for weeks about what they would do to each other once they got in the ring—and as a result there is sure to be some fur in the air.

The bill also contains some new fighters and naturally the boxing fans will be anxious to see how they stack up against those of known ability. The card follows.

Young Jose 115 lbs. vs. Cesario 115 lbs. 4 rounds.

Kid Felix 110 lbs. vs. Domingo 115 lbs. 4 rounds.

Robert Favacho 145 lbs. vs. Jimmie Fowler 145 4 rounds.

Abe Ezra 142 lbs. vs. Battling Kyko 135 4 rounds.

Semi-Final

Toledo 148 lbs. vs. Harry Brazil 146 lbs. 6 rounds.

Main Event

Nick Boyle 138 lbs. vs. Charlie White 142 lbs. 10 rounds.

The main event will be a ten round go between Nick Boyle and Charlie White, and as both have have been training hard for two weeks this match promises to be a hair raiser. Nick has been indulging in a daily five mile jog at Hongkew park in preparation for the battle, and as White is in good condition they will be prepared to inject plenty of action into the proceedings.

The bouts will begin promptly at 9.30, and as previously announced ladies will be admitted for the first time. Several improvements have been made in the stadium arrangements, with a view to increasing the comfort and convenience of the fans. The ring has been lowered and the ventilation arrangements have been modified.

Speaking of boxing recalls that Henry Holt and Co. have just published "Knuckles and Gloves," by Bohun Lynch, a distinguished English amateur of boxing, who in his undergraduate days at Oxford was something of a friendly terror to Cambridge rivals in the boxing contests between the two [illegible] Finely illustrated with many of the quaint and queer prints of the old English prize ring, the book surveys sweepingly the rich history of pugilism, from the days of the rather primitive technic of Flagg and Broughton; through the golden age of British boxing, when the achievement and endurance of such men as Belcher, Cribb and Pierce were held as shining examples for the strengthening of hearts; through the sordid years of trickery and consequent decay; on to the years of rennaissance with the adoption of the rules of the Marquis of Queensberry, and down to events subsequent to the famous encounters in Boyles Thirty Acres. It is a book in which one with a knowledge of the subject can guess at the sources, saying, this came from Thormanby's "Boxers and Their Battles;" this from Miles's "Pugilistica;" this from Pierce Egan's "Boxiana." But it bears out admirably George Saintsbury's contention that "all fights are good reading."

CURIOUS RELATION

For a hundred years and more there has been a curious relation between the men of the ring and the men of letters. Lord Byron, as became a Corinthian of his time, took lessons in the "manly art" from "Gentleman" Jackson, and there is a line in Theodore A. Cook's perface to "Knuckles and Gloves" which reads: "Byron's screen in Mr. John Murray's drawing room is far from the only testimony to that razzling poet's love of fighting." Hazlitt was almost equally attracted. There is his description of the battle between Neate and "the Gasman" which pictured the terrible blow which felled the giant in "red ruin." Perhaps the most grisly passage even in the pages of De Quincey is that episode in the first of "Murder as a Fine Art" where the fight between the amateur and the baker of Mannheim is vividly described. From the ring, when England ruled it, the best pages of George Brown gain their best inspiration. Says Mr Cook: "Under his magic guidance you step into the air which fanned the elf-locks of the Flaming Tinman. He loved the heroes of the ring like brothers. 'He strikes the foe on the forehead and the report of the blow is like the sound of a hammer against a rock.' The sentence stands unmatched in all the annals of pugilism."

NAMES SURVIVE

The names of some of those old heroes of the days when England ruled the ring have survived while the names of warriors and statesmen have been forgotten. Figg was the father of British boxing. Then came Broughton, who was champion from 1738 to 1750 and of whom Mr. Lynch crushingly writes: "I would gladly make the foolish and unprofitable bet that if Broughton, in his prime and with his bare fists, could be transplanted to these later days he would not stand for one minute before Joe Beckett with the gloves on." Once Broughton was taken to Berlin by his patron, the Duke of Cumberland. There he was shown a company of Frederick's Guards, made up of giants kidnapped from all countries, and the Duke asked the boxer what he thought of such men. Broughton expressed his desire to take on the entire company beginning with the flank man, stipulating only that he be served a breakfast between each bout. Yet soon after the champion passed the way of all champions, falling before the crude onslaught of the untried and underrated Slack.

Then came the men of the golden age "Gentleman" Jackson, a magnificent figure of a man, who must have been a splendid and startling sight in his scarlet coat, elaborate ruffles and bell crowned hat; "Jem" Belchar, who adopted a form of neckwear that was at once copied by half the bucks in the kingdom; and later a fighter called Bendigo, who gave the name to a race horse and a bishopric. Judged by the standards of the present the fame that some of these men enjoyed was hardly justified by their ring achievements. For example, Jackson. He fought only three regular battles, beating a novice in the first, losing the second and winning his fight with Mendoza for the championship by very questionable means. Today the men of the ring are still occasionally called "the short haired fraternity." The term goes back to that battle of more than 120 years ago. Mendoza wore his hair long, Jackson seized his opponent by the hair, twining his fingers in the curly locks, and by that advantage administered the

BASEBALL TOMORROW!

Manager Gallop left off celebrating the advent of a brand new daughter at his house yesterday long enough to arrange a baseball game for Saturday, with the Mitsubishi team. This is to be a practice game in preparation for the Huron outfit, which is due here early next week, and with whom the big annual Fourth of July game will be played. The manager wants all candidates out for practice this evening, as but a short time remains until the Fourth. The grounds had dried out fairly well yesterday and will be in prime condition for practice tonight.

THOUSANDS SEE LENGLEN DEFEAT RIVAL AT TENNIS

Vincent Richards, Johnston And Hunter Also Win

(Reuter's Service)

Wimbledon, June 27.—The weather was fine and the grounds of the All England Club were crowded today. Thousands, attracted by the magnetic Mlle. Lenglen, who drew a bye in the first round, waited for hours at the Center Court and eventually saw her defeat Miss Ingram 6-0, 6-0.

There were no other great international duels, the best besides Mlle. Lenglen's being the American, Vincent Richard's defeat of the Indian Davis Cup player, Jacob, 6-2, 6-3, 8-6. His countrymen, Johnston and Hunter, and the Frenchmen, Brugnon and Lacoste, all entered the fourth round at the expense of Englishmen.

Norton, Lycett, Wheatley and Woosnam all scored comfortable third round victories, the latter disposing of Mavrogordato 5-7, 6-1, 6-3, 10-8. In the second round the Spaniard, Count de Gomar, beat the Englishman, Bevan, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Miss McKane recorded a first round victory over the American, Miss Gardner, 6-1, 6-0. Miss Ryan made a victorious debut in the second round.

Canadians Take Rapidly To Golf

Ottawa, June 3.—Golf is rapidly becoming the national game of Canada. A report compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that on May Day 292 golf clubs were flourishing, representing an outlay in property and equipment of nearly $10,000,000.

The unusual popularity of the game is illustrated by figures which show that in 1916 there were only 76 golf courses in the Dominion. Last year there were 218, so that the increase since the first of the year has been 74.

It is also interesting to note that 81 of the courses are 18-hole layouts, while 211 are nine-hole links.

Weale Has Plan To Safeguard Ry's

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 28.—Mr. Putnam Weale speaking at the tiffin of the Anglo-American Association today said that the immediate concern, owing to the Lincheng outrage, was to find a formula to make travel safe. It was suggested that a railway police with foreign officers was the solution. Applying Portsmouth Treaty principles to the Chinese railways a total of 61,000 police would be required, costing $12,000,000 yearly, but would such a force be responsible for law and order? Suppose it was attacked, how many nationalities would be involved? Mr. Putnam Weale believed that the true solution was to place the railway zone on a special administrative basis, throwing them open to foreign ownership of land.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, June 28.—The King Pao reports that according to a telegram the Chinese Government received yesterday from Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese Minister to the United States of America, the American Government has decided not to approve the proposition by the American Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai regarding America's intervention in the domestic affairs of China, and the Foreign Department of the American Government will shortly convey a telegraphic message to that effect to the American Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai.

Up to last night no communication from the State Department dealing with the subject matter of the above dispatch had been received by the Chamber here.

Army Officer Is Best Manila Golfer

The final round in the open golf championship tournament was won by Major Noyes from J. Grieve at the Caloocan Golf Club. This gives Major Noyes the title for the year 1923 and the privilege of having his name added to the shield at the club on which the open champion for each year is recorded.

Major Noyes was in wonderful form for the day and considering the course, his card is remarkable. Rain had fallen on the links the greater part of the previous afternoon and evening, giving it the appearance of a lake rather than a golf course. The fairways were still wet and made long driving difficult but in spite of this the major made some wonderful shots.

Following is the champion's card for the day:

punishment that decided the issue of the encounter. Thereafter all fighters entered the ring with hair close cropped.

But the flaming figure of the golden age was "Jem" Belcher, whose admirers, calling him the Napoleon of the ring, fancied they were paying a compliment to the French Emperor. It is idle to conjecture how the bruisers of the past would fare if pitted against the men of today, but there is no question that Belcher was a fine fighter, though whether, at the pinnacle of his prowess, he was the best in the history of the ring, as some contend, is merely opinion. The inventor of a new and unorthodox style, a marvel of speed and hitting power, he came out of the west of England as a youth to tumble over the best men that could be pitted against him. How far he might have gone had not fate intervened no one can say. He had established a supremacy that was unquestioned when his eye was shattered by a racquet ball. Thus handicapped, it was thought that he was through with the ring forever, but against the advice of his friends, he returned to it to fall before the youth and unimpaired vigor of Hen Pearce, the "Game Chicken," and the slow but indomitable Tom Cribb.

MANY OTHERS

There were many other colorful figures in the ring of those days. Gully, who beat Gregson in a famous battle, became a member of parliament. Gribb, one of the gentlest of men and kindliest of publicans, was regarded as upholding the honor of England in his two battles with the American black, Molyneux. There was a bitter international flavor to those battles, just as there was later to the fight between Hammer Lane and Yankee Sullivan, and still later to the fight betwen Tom Sayers and Heenan, the "Benicia Boy," a battle which Thackery, who was said to have been at the ringside, made the subject of one of his "Roundabout Papers." Then there was that curious character William Thompson, known as Bendigo. His famous battles were with Ben Caunt, and in them the spirit of fair play was conspicuously lacking. In later life the revivalists snatched Bendigo, "a brand from the burning." One day his old backer Lord Longford met the former bruiser dressed in blue coat and a white tie and asked him what the game was. "Truly, my lord," said Bendigo, "I am fighting Satan now and victory shall be mine." "Hope so, Bendy," said his lordship, "but if you don't fight Satan more fairly than you did Ben Caunt my sympathies will be with Old Nick."

June 28, 1923

Spot bar silver was down 1-8d. and forward 3-16d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 63⅞ cents and the London New York cross rate to 460½. Our Official Sterling rate here today was dropped to 3-0½, the Gold Dollar rate to 70, the Yen rate raised to 70 and the other rates changed accordingly.

Our market in the early part of the morning was easy, particularly for forward delivery, but steadied up somewhat during the day.

The lowest rates at which business in Sterling was done were 31 for June delivery, 3-0-13-16 for July, 3-0-11-16 August and 3-0 [illegible] September. The lowest rates for Gold Dollars were 71 June, 70¾ July and 710½ August.

At the close, however, there were good sellers at these rates and possibly a fraction better with no buyers of Sterling under 3/1⅛ June, 3/1 July and 3/0⅞ August.

There were no buyers of Gold Dollars under 71¼ for June, 71 July and 70⅞ August. There were sellers of Yen at the close at 68⅞ for June delivery, 69⅛ for July and 69¼ for forward.

Banks were quoting 3/1¾ for Sterling bills for June-July delivery, 3/1½ for August and 3/1⅝ for forward.

They were quoting 72¾ for Gold Dollar bills for June-July delivery and 72½ for forward. There were buyers of Franc bills at 1180.

China sold and India bought silver in London yesterday. The market closed steady. New York also report their market as steady.

Freight Market

In their fortnightly report on the Freight market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

We have no change to report since our last issue. The volume of exports both to Europe and America shows no signs of improving and the market remains generally depressed.

The military situation in and around Amoy and Swatow has greatly improved of late and this has given a better tone to our Northern market consequently a fair number of fixtures have been made from Newchwang southwards and rates are firm all round—there appears to be also a certain amount of activity in the Saigon market and rates are advancing.

Coal Market

In their fortnightly report on the Coal market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company state:

There is again no change to report in this market since writing a fortnight ago; it is true that there is still a certain amount of enquiry going on but no new business of any importance has been done.

Shipments have been steady during June and for the most part cargoes have passed immediately into consumption. A limited quantity of No. 1 Lump is now becoming available for the open market.

Exchange Market

In their weekly report on the Exchange market, Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows:

Exchange: The London price of silver at 31¼d. is ⅜d. lower than last week. The quotation for two months forwards is 31d.

Our official quotation for T. T. on London followed with a drop of ¾d. to 3-0⅝d. In the earlier part of the week under review there was a good demand for Gold T. T. from Import Merchants and our local Gold Dealers, and our exchange market has ruled weak, particularly for forward delivery. A premium of from ⅝d. to ½d. above official quotations has been maintained for Gold T. T. for June delivery which at the close shows signs of disappearing. Forward rates for T. T. on London are quoted at about 3-0¾d. July, 3-0⅝d. August-September 3-0½d. Oct.-Dec. There are very few Export Bills offering and today after steadiness we close with a weak tendency.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver, Tls. 22,970,000 an increase of Tls. 526,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars, $35,260,000 an increase of $530,000.

Estimated value Tls. 48,357,000 as against Tls. 50,840,000 held at this time last year.

WEATHER

Warm and damp weather. South to S. E-ly winds over our coasts. A depression will cross Manchuria Eastwards. The typhoon, off Eastern Luzon, will continue N. W-wards, threatening the Ballintang Channel and Southern Formosa.

Shifting The Capital

MUCH interest and even excitement is being manifested in local Chinese political circles over the reports in Chinese newspapers that an agreement has been reached between Chang Tso-lin of Mukden and Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang whereby they will finance a session of Parliament in Shanghai and restore Li Yung-hung to the Presidency at the same place—in other words shift the capital and government.

This of course does not mean Shanghai proper but some place nearby. Ex-Premier Tong Shao-yi has suggested Hangchow as the most suitable place, and General Lu who is tupan of Chekiang has invited them to meet there.

What remains of the cabinet probably will attempt to continue functioning in Peking, but if the President and Parliament set up housekeeping down here and appoint a new cabinet what will the position of the Peking diplomatic Corps be? It seems to us that the diplomats will have to pack up and come down here too, for the government which the powers have recognised will then have vanished from Peking only to reappear here.

The question remains of whether the three major parties now combined against the Chihli party will be able to muster a parliamentary quorum at the new seat of government.

The Precarious Course Of The Mark

NO one who has seriously considered the German financial situation can have been surprised at the resent still further violent fall in German exchange, which brought the price of the gold dollar to 75,000 marks. When the rate had declined in January until the dollar was worth 50,000 marks, the German Government and Reichsbank, by what they called a "stabilising process," put up the price until 20,000 marks exchanged for a dollar. But every competent economist pronounced the stabilising experiment impossible from the first. It consisted virtually of using the gold reserve of the Reichsbank to buy up paper marks on foreign markets at an artificial price, throwing these same marks again into circulation at the moment when new paper marks in amounts ranging from 200,000,000,000 to 600,000,000,000 were being put out every week. The result was inevitable; the stabilising process was bound to break down, and its failure was equally certain to carry the value of the mark to a lower level than had been reached when the Reichsbank intervened.

We have received a pamphlet issued by the statistical office of the German Government in which the reasons for the fall in the mark are set forth in painstaking detail. The recital of causes is in a way pathetic. Nothing that is stated as a cause for the great depreciation is stated incorrectly, mis-stated as a fact, but the relation of the facts to one another is hopelessly confused. It is explained that when the war ended Germany was compelled to import raw materials and provisions on an unexampled scale, and that for this reason the rate of mark exchange began its long decline. The payments on account of reparations, it is further noted, placed a still heavier burden on Germany's shoulders in the foreign exchange market and hastened the depreciation of the mark. The Government, in order to carry on its home administration and meet its external obligations, "had to resort to negotiating Treasury bills with the Reichsbank in ever-increasing amounts and thus contributed to the creation of new money." The conclusion of the argument is that under the Treaty of Versailles "it is not possible for Germany, and will not be possible for it in the future, to reduce the balance of payments and the budget of the empire even approximately to a state of equilibrium."

The reasoning is further extended to the argument that, with prices what they are today in Germany, even the present immensely inflated currency does not possess the gold value of the pre-war paper circulation and is not adequate to provide for the needs of German industry. At this point, as every one will recognise, the German mind resorts again to the vicious circles which gets the Government nowhere except into a continually deepening gulf of financial chaos. The currency which had to be increased 100 or 500 times because prices had gone up similarly; the currency which had to be put out to enable the Government to place the floating obligations with which it met its continually increasing deficit; the impossibility of meeting foreign obligations under the treaty with anything but paper money sold abroad—to these contentions the official argument at Berlin always returns. Every one of them is utterly and absolutely fallacious; all of them might have been put forward to apologise for a similar increase in the paper currency of France or Italy; pretty much all of them were used by the political defenders of the French revolutionary paper money up to the time when it was cancelled and put out of existence.

The simple fact, of which every one outside of Germany is by this time aware, is that the only means by which Germany could with safety to her own finances have met either the after-war requirements for raw materials and food or the needs for making reparations payments was through use of the public credit in the form of a foreign loan through which the whole of these obligations might have been financed. That such a loan was easily possible even as recently as 1920 is admitted on all the markets. But Germany would not use this recourse, apparently because of the dread of her statesmen that a showing of financial strength might lessen the chance that the allied Governments would remit the greater part of the reparations damages. The other path was chosen, with results which Germany is now experiencing. Yet it is quite as certain now as it was in 1919 or 1920 that the only salvation for the German people's economic future is a settlement with the Allies, and then the adoption, on a scientific basis, of precisely the sound financial recourse which her statesmen refused in 1919 and 1920.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

Out in the wide wide spaces,
Out where the men are men,
Out where they shave their faces
Not daily but now and then,
They take with a touch of pity
Concerning the luckless guys
Who live in the crowded city
And have hopeless and hollow eyes

Out where they wear no lacquer,
And are proud to be rough and strong
Out where they "chaw tubbacker,"
Where the weeks and the months are long,
They speak of the city dweller
As a crab and a weakling, too,
And they pity the "poor, soft feller,"
Or, at least, they pretend they do.

Out where no wheels are humming
Where the wild buck leaps the crag
Out where they have no plumbing,
Out where men's trousers sag,
They boast of their carefree habits,
And they pity the city dudes.
Who tremble like frightened rabbits
When a regular man intrudes

Out where they brag so loudly
And claim to be satisfied,
Out where they strut so proudly,
Where the spaces are open, wide,
They are hoping, in secret, daily,
As their lean dads hoped before,
To flock to the cities gayly,
And return from the same no more.

Prof. Talkyourliegoff at the usual boresome meeting of the Searcher's Society last evening made a unique proposal concerning the changes in the Municipal bye-laws on the naming of youths and maidens. Prof. Talkyourliegoff suggested that in the future the official name choosers make a study of the American Indian methods, citing as examples Chief Kick-a-hole-in-the-sky, Mary Phonograph, Little-Bull-that-runs-around-and-roars, Yellow-antelope-kick-up-your-heels, Lizzie-sunbonnet-with-strings, and Maude-good-bear-meat-cooker. All these names are registered on the Flathead Indian reservation and are not copyrighted.

NOTICE

It is hereby noticed that from July 1, my son, Gazinkus No. 6, will be officially bestowed with the monicker of Stickinthemud Gazinkus. Proof of his rightful possession of that name will be supplied to name-doubters who might take objection by application to the undersigned, or to his mother, Mrs. Constant Nagger Gazinkus, Holy Terror Terrace.

(Signed) Henpecked Gazinkus.

Pa Jongg, who has been through the mill and ought to know, sez that the idea of naming a person after his or her chief characteristic may be alright but there's going to be an awful run of "Henpecked," "Phonograph Face" and several other monickers he can think of right off hand.

Our personal idea is that it will spoil our illusions and put pin pricks in all our toy balloons if the namers are truthful. And who are to be the namers? If it's the Mothers there's going to be a flock of "Angel Boy's." If it's the Fathers there's going to be a surplus of "Spendthrifts," "Young Scrapcoats," and "Lazy Boned Beggars."

Further suggestions are invited.

The Riddle Of The Orient

The Morning Post, an Imperialist and ultra-Conservative London newspaper, has just concluded the publication of a series of articles on Far Eastern problems contributed by a writer who made a special tour of the Orient to collect his material. The substance of the articles has been published in these columns and today we are able to give the writer's conclusions. They are disquieting to a degree. In view of the reputation of the newspaper in question and of the evident care taken by the correspondent in the preparation of what he wrote, his survey and his findings are worth more than passing attention. They call for close study. With all that they contain it is improbable that those who live in the Far East will agree, but all the same an outside opinion is often at least as valuable and as sound as an inside one.

The Morning Post's correspondent declares that Japan closely resembles the Germany of pre-war days, that she aims at the hegemony of Asia, the domination of China and the eventual withdrawal of the color bar throughout the world. He finds that the Emperor cult is dying out while the Liberal movement here he ignores He looks for an early color clash in the Orient and the elements of the general problem he summarises in five pregnant phrases.

Three of these may be taken in conjunction—Japan's over-population, Russia's reviving interest in the East and Bolshevik propaganda throughout Asia against European oppression.

Japan's over-population is one of the local problems which is most acutely agitating the minds of sociologists and economists. Our columns have frequently been thrown open to the discussion of it. A contemporary tells us that the population of Japan is yearly increased by the birth of six hundred thousand babes and goes on to debate the vexed question of birth control. The morality of that practice and even its desirability from an economic point of view need not here be considered, but the fact that birth-control is being clutched at as a possible solution of the problem, not only of the increasing poverty of certain classes in the community, but also of that of the congested state of the country, is indicative of the extreme pitch to which over-population is rushing. Meanwhile we are told from London that "Japan realises that ruthless expansion means war, and, pressing though her needs are, she will will long hesitate before she meets them by a world conflagration."

We can hardly hold that a world war is likely to solve for Japan or for any other country the problem of immigration. Military experts, in sinister agreement, have told us repeatedly that the next world war will make the last seem like a skirm-the obvious deduction from that assurance is that whoever may win the next world war will be hopelessly impoverished in men and material. Who will be left to immigrate and where will the immigrants go?

War like immigration is the business of young men—used up in the first they are not available for the second. True the resources of China are unfathomable and, having dominated that country, Japan would be in a position of enormous power from which it might be supposed that she would emerge from the war advantageously, but what are the chances of such domination being secured? Even if she permitted it how long would China, the most mercurial of nations, tolerate it? As it is Japan's merchants cannot sell their goods in that bemused country, how in the future are her statesmen to impose their will upon it?

It is against European oppression that Bolshevism is to be spread in the Far East, we are told, but against whatever it may be spread it would be inimical to the idea of Japan establishing an hegemony in Asia. Japan, though she is contemplating the wisdom of making friends with Russia, is not likely to encourage Bolshevism in her midst, nor, it may be observed, is it to Russia that the Japanese would-be immigrant looks. He sets his face towards America and the tendency at the moment, at any rate, is for the vexed question of immigration to America being submitted to a body with power to arbitrate These are some of the considerations which lead us to scout the idea of the conflagration which the writer in London predicts.

Russia's reviving interests in the East are perhaps only the symptom of her general reawakening. In the West she has been harshly dealt with but in this connection it is worth while commenting on the fact that while the Morning Post's correspondent was on his way back to London the Communists in that city were massing their artillery against the British Government and the British Foreign Minister. The Daily Herald, a Socialist newspaper, printed a communistic manifesto which filled an entire page of the issue of May 11. This called on the readers of that paper to "stand by the workers' republic, to stand by the trade agreements, to demand immediate and unconditional recognition of Russia, to realise that the triumph of Russia was that also of the British Communists and also that Lord Curzon's note to Russia had brought Great Britain to the brink of another world war." To the fantastic fiction we have here of the mind-workings of the British Communists who see in the recognition of the Soviet a step towards the domination of their own country by themselves.—Japan Advertiser.

Indian Victim Relates Story Of Brutal Attack

serting a new charge of conspiracy to make the evidence admissable.

The Crown Advocate stated that notice had been given at the earliest opportunity. There was no new evidence of conspiracy because both Mrs. Davis and the accused were called in the lower Court and there was sufficient in the way of questions put on behalf of the prosecution to show that money relations were in it.

POLICE TESTIMONY

Sergt. J. A. Quayle spoke about a map and said that he had visited the place with the surveyor. He spoke of the visit he paid to the place where the assault took place. He also added that he had a warrant of arrest for Mrs. Rowarth. After having read the warrant to her she did not say anything. Barkar Singh was with him and he identified her as the woman who came to his house on May 4. The prosecutor was on the police force for eight days and after that he was a watchman. He knew that the complainant made a statement in the presence of Inspector O'Toole and Acting Registrar Covey at the General Hospital. He also knew that there was a Mrs. Davis in Jukong Road. He went there and asked to see the servants. There was nobody answering the description of the young amah. Another Mrs. Davis was visited in Kwantung Road and there too was no trace of the young amah. Mrs. Davis said that two weeks ago she had one amah who had left her. The amah left after May 4.

VICTIM TELLS STORY

Barkar Singh was then called.

Mr. Wilkinson: Do you know the accused? Yes.

How long have you known her? Five or six months.

How did you get to know her? I lent her $100.

Is there any guarantor for the money you lent? Yes, Mrs. Davis

Mrs. Davis any relative of Mrs Rowarth? Yes. Mrs. Davis is the daughter of the accused.

How long have you known her? Six months.

What is your occupation? I am a money lender.

How long have you been a money lender? For five years.

Has Mrs. Davis guaranteed any other loans? Yes.

Was there any trouble with Mrs. Davis? No.

The Judge: Has she paid you? For three months she did not pay any interest.

Mr. Wilkinson: Do you remember the day you were hurt? Yes.

Did you see the accused that day? Yes.

What time of the day? 8 p.m.

Was she alone or with somebody else? There was one Chinese amah with her. The servant of Mrs. Davis. She is between 16 and 18 years of age.

Where were you at that time? At my home, 631 Miller Road.

TELLS OF VISIT

What did Mrs. Rowarth come to you about? She said to me that one Chinese woman to whom I lent $2,000 had changed her house. She was going to show me the house. Mrs. Davis was waiting there. The money would be returned to me if I went.

Did you lend any Chinese woman $2,000? Yes.

And had Mrs. Davis anything to do with it? Mrs. Davis has guaranteed some part of it.

Were there several documents or one only? There were many documents.

And this document (produced in Court) relates to $2,000?

Mr. Lipson Ward objected.

The objection being overruled the witness answered that it amounted only to $900.

Mr. Wilkinson: Is it a part of $2,000? Yes.

Have you tken any legal proceedings with regard to that loan? No. I took some legal proceedings against Mrs. Davis but that has nothing to do with that loan.

You understood that that was a part of it you were going to settle? Yes.

Did this Chinese girl say anything? The Chinese amah told me that her mistress had gone to the house of that Chinese woman.

Did they tell you where this house they were taking you to was? They did not say where the house was. They told me that the house was very near.

Did they tell you how you were going to get to the house? Yes. They proposed tramcar and I suggested ricshas.

Was it light or dark outside? It was not very dark.

What happened next? We got into rickshas.

DESCRIBES ATTACK

Where did you go to? We went alone Seward Road and we reached the Gas Company. I asked them where they were taking me to. They said that the house was very near. On the other side of the Municipal jail we got out of the ricshas. The ricsha bollies were paid off. I paid them. Just as I wanted to go back the Chinese amah lighted a lamp and Mrs. Rowarth said "Why are you returning?" When I was about 200 yards along I said that I was going home. At that time the amah was walking in front with the lamp, I was in the middle and Mrs. Rowarth was behind. The amah remarked that if I would not go to the house I would lose my money. We walked another 40 yards and then two men jumped out from the fields and got hold of me. I pushed the two men and they fell, then I saw another man coming toward we with a chopper. He wanted to strike me on the head but I put my left hand up and so it was cut off. He then wanted to give me another blow on my head but I put up my right hand to shield my face. But by that time the two other men got up and came behind me. They got hold of me, three of them, and bent me backward.

Sir Skinner Turner: More than one had a chopper? I cannot say. I saw only one with a chopper. They got hold of me and soon I became unconscious. I do not know what happened next.

What happened to the amah and Mrs. Rowarth while this took place? They stopped.

The Judge: While you were attacked where was the amah? She was standing in front all the time. Mrs. Rowarth was behind.

The Crown Advocate? The people that struck you who were they? I can tell only one man with the chopper. He was a Chinese. I cannot tell who the other two were.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

Cross-examined by Mr. Lipson Ward: How long did you take to get from the house to the place where you were assaulted? Half of an hour.

Was it dark or light when you were assaulted? It was dark.

No light at all? No light except what amah had.

How long have you been a money lender? Five years.

What were you doing before that? I have served as a watchman for one year.

What did you get as a watchman? $23 a month.

What were you before you were a watchman? I did not serve before. I was in the police force for eight days.

I have resigned from the Police.

Are you not a head of a number of other sikhs who lend the money? No, I lent the money alone.

Do you swear that the money you lent was your own money? Yes. I myself borrow money from other Indians and then lend it out.

Do you remember Mrs. Davis coming to your house at the beginning of March? Yes.

Did you tell her that you wanted the money as other men were troubling you for it? No. I have never said that.

At the time you were assaulted how many Mrs. Davises did you know? Three.

Where were they living? One mother and a daughter were living together and another one was living in Jukong Road, near a Russian Hotel.

Have you been to the house where Mrs. Davis lives with her daughter? Yes.

How many times? Many times.

When was the last time you were in the house before you were assaulted? I went to the house on the 2nd of May.

Did you see Mrs. Davis? No.

Did you ever see the amah before the 4th? Yes.

When was the first time you saw her? I knew her before. Mrs. Davis was living in Haskell Road since then I know her.

KNEW AMAH 5 MONTHS

How many months before? Five or six months.

You are absolutely certain that you saw that amah five or six months before you were assaulted? Yes.

When did Mrs. Davis move from Haskell Road? About four months ago.

You saw that this amah was with her when she moved? Yes.

At the time you were assaulted you know that Mrs. Davis and her amah had been living in Jukong Road? I knew that they were not living in Jukong Road.

When was the last time before you were assaulted that you saw Mrs. Rowarth? On the 2nd of the same month. She came to my home to pay me the interest. At that time I had no trouble with Mrs. Rowarth.

Do you know where Mrs. Rowarth lives? Near the corner

Was that when she borrowed $100 from you? Yes.

That is the only money she had borrowed from you? Yes.

She came to your house to pay the interest? Yes. Before she did not come for two months.

Did you go to her house? No. I did not know where she lived. I asked Mr. Davis and he showed me. But I have not been there before the assault took place. I have been there afterwards.

Who is Hasan Ali? He is an Indian Mahommedan.

Is he mixed up with you in money lending business? No.

Is he a friend of yours? Yes.

Where does this Chinese live to whom you lent $2,000? Before she was living in Range Road. I do not know where she lives now.

What is her name? Ah Kai-yi.

Not Zoong Ah-dah?

The Judge: Mr. Crown Advocate by whom were those translations of the papers made? By a junior interpreter. It was said to me that the language was a country language and it was almost impossible to translate.

The witness went on to say that he had lent the money to the Chinese woman and Mrs. Davis and the Dung Hu Great Dispensary were the guarantors for a part of the money, as well as Hong Ting Rice shop, the proprietress being the sister of the Ah Kai-yi. Very serious wounds were inflicted and he, the witness, did not remember whether he had made any statement. But he was certain he had spoken something three or four days after he was brought to hospital. One Havildar was the interpreter. He had, perhaps, put his name to a statement.

When the statement was produced in Court the witness recognised his writing.

WOMEN IN ATTACK?

Barkar Singh, in cross-examination, said he had not stated in hospital that the accused and the Chinese amah had asked him to go to a Chinese man who had borrowed money previously and had changed his address. He had lent $2,000 to a Chinese woman and not a Chinese man. On his way to Thorburn Road he had complained that the place the accused and the amah were taking him was very far. When he had approached the gas works he had realised that they had told him an untruth, but they prevailed upon him not to return and to proceed on the journey. He did not know whether the three persons who attacked him were men or women. Witness at first confessed to having stated in the hospital that it was three men, but in further cross-examination stated that he could not remember what he had said in hospital.

Did Mrs. Rowarth stand still at the time?—Yes.

Did you see her run away?—No.

Do you remember what you said in hospital—that the 'Portuguese woman had run back the way I had come and the Chinese woman ran East of Thorburn Road'?—I do not remember what I stated.

Did you go to Mrs. Davis' house after the Police had brought proceedings?—Yes, I saw Mr. Davis and told him I wanted money.

Did the husband say 'What money?'—Her husband said that he had trouble and spent money in engaging lawyers. On the first day they asked me to come in but I refused to go in. They said that after the case was over they would pay. The second or third day after this I issued writs. I had been to see Mrs. Davis after the Police Court proceedings were over.

HEARING ADJOURNED

Mr. Wilkinson re-examined.

Did you at the hospital on May 9 make a declaration that you would not die?—Everybody who dressed me said: 'You should die,' but I said, 'I will not die.'

The Judge: Did you take this bundle of Chinese promissory notes on the night of May 4?—No.

I understood that you were led to go on the night of May 4 because they were going to take you to a Chinese woman who had borrowed money from you and who wanted to pay you?—Yes, I took some papers with me in my pocket as I knew they could not pay all.

What happened to those papers?—I have them. These promissory notes were in my pocket at the time that I was assaulted and they were left in my pocket when the men left me on the roadside.

Did the prisoner and the amah say anything to the men who were chopping you?—No, I did not hear anything said at all.

Do you remember how many foreign persons were present in the hospital when you made your statement?—Two.

Was there anybody representing Mrs. Rowarth?—No.

Are you quite sure that it was the prisoner who came to you that night?—Yes.

Dr. M. A. Bolton testified that he had examined the money lender at the General Hospital and that in the region of the neck there were four cuts, in two of which there were fractures. The wrist was almost severed and it was ultimately amputated. On the right hand there was a deep cut.

The hearing was adjourned until this morning.

Legion Post At Manila For Wood

Manila, P.I., June 27.—The Manila Post of the American Legion unanimously passed a resolution last night endorsing the administration of Governor General Leonard Wood.

The resolution, which was couched in the strongest possible terms, was cabled to the headquarters of the American Legion at Washington D.C., and is the answer of Americans residing in the Philippines, to the recent vitrolic attack made on General Wood by Senator Frear of Wisconsin.
